EHR for Assisted Living Providers

As the needs of the long-term, post-acute care market continue to evolve and change, assisted living providers are facing an array of business challenges such as ever-changing regulatory requirements, and the proper tracking, monitoring and measuring of business performance. Add to this, the desire to continually improve efficiency, quality of care and market competitiveness, and it becomes clear that assisted living providers need to adopt the robust, proven methodology of an EHR system—but will any “off-the-shelf” system do?

The Challenges Facing Assisted Living

Regulatory Requirements

As government regulations are continually developed and refined to ensure that consistent quality of services are provided to our aging population, assisted living organizations must remain in compliance with a myriad of state and federal policies.

It can be difficult, if not impossible, to manually stay abreast of each and every regulatory change. Our EHR system, tailored specifically to the needs of the assisted living environment, automatically adjusts and updates so that you remain in compliance—allowing you to focus on providing the best care to your residents.

Monitoring and Measuring Business Performance

Let's be honest. The assisted living market is highly competitive. You need to be adaptable and flexible.

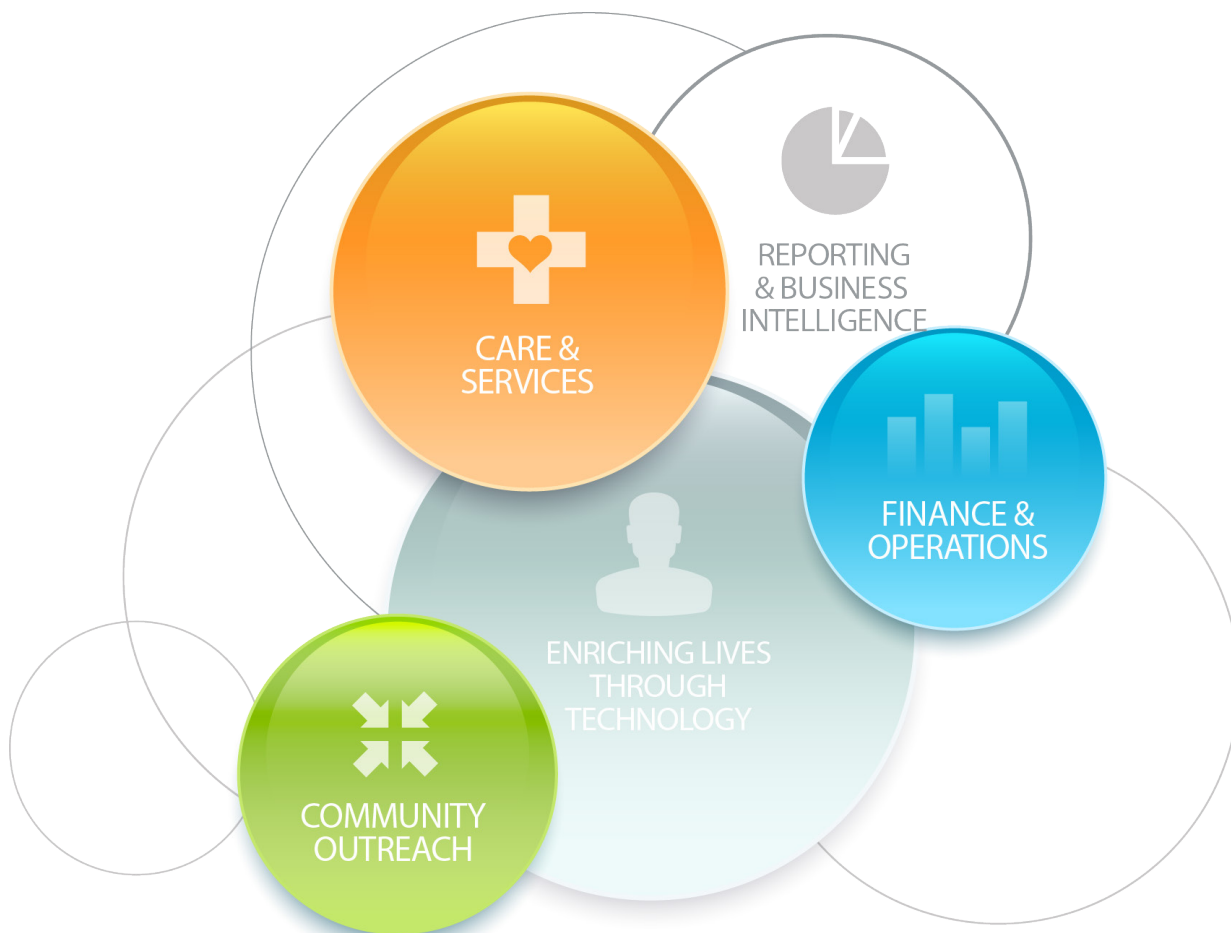

You need business performance indicators at your finger tips. Our EHR platform will allow you to better gather business intelligence and information on resident outcomes with customizable dashboards and reporting modules. You can stay on top of industry trends while adjusting to changing market requirements.

Promoting Wellness in Residents

At the end of the day, your world revolves around the resident so it is imperative to cultivate successful wellness programs. Developing a program is one thing, but proving its merit and success is another. With our EHR system, not only can you track the success of your wellness programs, but you can use that data in marketing to potential new clients.

A Solution Specifically Designed for Assisted Living

Our EHR platform is specifically designed for the needs of assisted living and enables organizations to improve day-to-day operations, develop business intelligence (BI) reports and bolster community relationships so that you are always on top of industry trends, and the evolving needs of the market.

Care & Services

Planning for and delivering the right care and services at the right time is essential to your residents, staff and business. Our care and services capabilities ensure that resident conditions are thoroughly assessed and that service plans are tailored to each of their unique needs. Our Point of Care and eMAR solutions ensure timely delivery of services and medications, as well as thorough, accurate documentation of care, and service delivery.

Finance & Operations

Our finance and operations module fully integrates with clinical and administrative applications to deliver a single, consistent set of data across your community or organization. This seamless automation optimizes the staffing and scheduling of your personnel, enhances census reporting, and boosts staff productivity while increasing cash flow.

Reporting & Business Intelligence

Our solutions are designed to provide decision-makers with the business transparency essential to the effective management of a senior living organization. Through our EHR platform, the insight available to management teams lead to improved resident management, improved clinical and financial outcomes, and strategic decision-making.

Community Outreach

It takes a connected community to care for our residents. Your relationship with residents, families, and the surrounding community is the engine that drives your business. By working better, together, our EHR platform helps you to connect to the entire healthcare continuum. As well, sales and marketing applications are fully integrated within the PointClickCare EHR.

Better. Together. With Connected Care

We have the largest market share of successful customer implementations in the entire long-term, post-acute care (LTPAC) industry. More than that, PointClickCare is your trusted partner and connection point for every person and organization across the continuum of care.
